Looking after children's eyesight and hearing

Checking vision (eyesight) in children is very important as it may affect their learning and development. It is beneficial to test all children's vision before the age of 6 years and 6 months to help identify any children with reduced vision (amblyopia) or any significant degree of vision loss and offer treatment in a timely manner in order to reduce the risk of permanent visual impairment.

Possible signs of eye problems in children include:

- Sitting too close to the TV
- Rubbing eyes a lot
- Holding objects very close to the face
- Blinking a lot
- Eyes not looking in the same direction (squint)
- Getting headaches
- Struggling with hand eye co-ordination e.g. being more clumsy than usual

Tips for looking after children's eyesight include:

- Get screens in the right position, e.g. have your computer screen at eye level
- Don't sit too close to screens, have them about an arm's length away
- Take regular breaks from staring at the TV screen or other devices e.g. iPad
- Try to get as much time playing outdoors as possible
- Try not to watch films on a small screen e.g. a phone; as staring at a small screen for a long time can strain your eyes
- Don't watch any type of screen in a dark room

All children under 18 are entitled to a FREE NHS eye test.

We recommend that parents/carers take their children to visit their local optician. Please find enclosed a list of Optician practices in Brent.

Possible signs of hearing problems in children include:

- delayed language skills
- abnormal speech
- insistence on listening to television or music at a high volume
- learning difficulties
- not paying attention to conversations

- not responding when someone calls their name
- trouble hearing over background noise

If you have any concerns about your child's hearing, please take them to see the GP.

Not being able to see or hear properly is very likely to have a negative impact on your child's education.
